PLANT TECH CORNER

As humans we have the ability to adapt. As New Yorkers, we have a greater challenge to adapt, and our indoor plants have that challenge too.

As New York heats up and the AC blasts on, offices can turn from hot to cold overnight. Just think of the woman in the cubicle next to you with the sweater over her shoulders and the space heater at her feet. Just like humans, the frigid temperatures of air conditioning can be too much for plants to take.

As a result of the plummeting indoor climate, leaves can turn yellow and fall from a sudden state of shock. But don't throw away your Ficus just yet! Within a few weeks your plants will have adjusted to their new environment.

Manhattan Plant Experts Launches it's New Website July 2008

We are extremely excited to share with you our newest website that promises to be more visually appealing and reflects our new brand message clearly. Visit www.manhattanplant.com and you will find in our new website our archived Newsletters, our plant and flower selections, as well as holiday decorations, interior and exterior design services.

We differentiated our flower arrangement section into three categories: Event Arrangements, Tropical and Exotic, Single Theme and Seasonal. We've also added a testimonial section that is an opportunity for our clients to share their enthusiasm about our services.

In our Press page, read on what the media is saying about Manhattan Plant and watch an edition of "Floorplan" that features, plant expert Pam Renna of Manhattan Plants.

Please feel free to make comments or suggestions about our new site to us. Just give us a call or send us an email.

Our Environmental Policy

We are conscious of the effects of using eco-friendly products to protect our earth & environment. Starting with our offices we only use cleaning products that are good for our environment. All of our paper products used for deliveries are of recycled materials, lights are only used when necessary. All of our offices have natural lighting and we have energy efficient light bulbs.

All of our employee wear cotton tee shirts made from all natural fibers. We arrange their schedules so that they are in the same area for the day. This cuts down on travel time and is better for the environment. In our greenhouses everything is recycled. We only use natural products, no pesticides. We recycle our soil. All plants that are unhealthy are used as mulch. There is no water waste either.

OUR GIFT TO YOU!
